

FAQs for MOE Study Loan (SL) - Full-Time Undergraduate Students

STUDY LOAN

1) What is a Study Loan?

The Study Loan is a means-tested Government loan scheme, and complements the Tuition Fee Loan. The Study Loan provides loans to cover up to the remaining 10% of tuition fees payable by Singapore Citizen (SC) students not covered by the Tuition Fee Loan. It does not cover any other miscellaneous fees.

Eligibility Criteria

2) Who can apply for the Study Loan?

The Study Loan is available to subsidised SC or Singapore Permanent Resident (PR) students pursuing MOE-subsidised full-time undergraduate programmes at Singapore University of Social Sciences who have applied for the Tuition Fee Loan or a loan with an organisation registered with a government agency. Students must also meet the income criteria of gross monthly household per capita income (PCI) of S$2,700 or below.

3) Can I apply for the Study Loan if I already have an existing study loan for my previous study (e.g. loan taken during Polytechnic studies)?

You may apply for another Study Loan for your full-time degree study at the University when you have completed or withdrawn from the programme which you were granted the existing study loan for.

4) Am I allowed to take up other loans concurrently with the Study Loan?

To be eligible to apply for the Study Loan, you will need to be already holding a Tuition Fee Loan or other loan that covers at least 80% (for students with gross monthly household per capita income [PCI] of S$950 and below) or 90% (for students with PCI of more than S$950 and up to S$2,700) of the subsidised fees payable by SC students. In addition, the total loans taken (from the Tuition Fee Loan, Study Loan and other loans) should not exceed 100% of the subsidised tuition fees payable. You are required to indicate the details of other loans taken to finance the tuition fees at the point of loan application.

5) If I am paying non-subsidised tuition fees (due to reasons such as transfer/re-start/re-admission/candidature extension), can I still apply for Study Loan?

Yes, you may still apply for Study Loan, if you were previously a subsidised student but have exhausted your subsidy eligibility after your transfer/re-admission/candidature extension. However, the maximum loan quantum will be capped at the subsidised tuition fee payable by Singapore Citizens (SC) for each semester for the programme. For example,

Full tuition fee (i.e. non-subsidised) = $1,000 per semester

Subsidised SC fees = $250 per semester

Maximum Tuition Fee Loan = 90% of $250

= $225

Maximum Study Loan = 10% of $ 250

= $25

Student pays the remaining tuition fee of $750 per semester (i.e. $1,000 less [$225 + $25]).

6) Do I need a guarantor when applying for the Study Loan?

Interest and Repayment Period

16) How do I repay the Study Loan after I have graduated? What is the maximum repayment period?

Repayment can commence within six (6) months after graduation or upon graduates securing employment, whichever is earlier. The maximum repayment periods are as follows:

Interest will accrue on a monthly basis.

In the event that you withdraw or are terminated without completing the programme of study, the loan outstanding will become due and payable by you immediately. You may repay the outstanding sum by monthly instalments on such terms and conditions as stipulated by the University.

⁴ The term 'graduation' is defined as the date when the graduation list is finalised and signed off by the relevant authority in the University.

Late payment charges will be levied at the rate of 1% per month on past due amount.

19) How do I keep track of the amount I have borrowed and repaid?
